Meet DEEPTA GUPTA

With over 35 years of experience in the Food Processing and F&B Retail industry, my journey combines engineering discipline with deep, hands-on industry exposure. Trained as a Chemical Engineer from HBTI, Kanpur, I entered this sector when it was largely unorganized and have since actively contributed to its evolution into a more structured, compliant, and opportunity-driven ecosystem.

Over the decades, I have worked closely with startups as well as established food brands, helping them scale through practical execution rather than theory. The upliftment of the food fraternity—particularly small and mid-sized indigenous brands—is deeply personal to me. I firmly believe these enterprises are the true custodians of India's food tradition, and with the right systems and guidance, they can grow nationally and globally without losing their essence. This belief led to the founding of Egremontz.

At Egremontz, every engagement is custom-designed. Our competencies span project development, optimized plant and factory design, business process implementation, F&B retail format development, and regulatory compliance with FSSAI, HACCP, and ISO standards. My approach remains experience-led and execution-focused—delivering solutions that are practical, scalable, and sustainable, and that build businesses designed not just to succeed, but to endure.

WHY DO WE NEED A BUSINESS COACH

Building a business is an exhilarating journey, filled with opportunities and challenges. This is where a dynamic business coach becomes your invaluable partner. A skilled coach empowers you to think bigger, act smarter, and take bold actions with clarity and confidence.

Here's how a business coach fuels your growth

Challenge Your Assumptions and Blind Spots

We all have habits and beliefs that shape our decisions. A coach helps you identify what's holding you back, encourages you to question outdated thinking, and guides you toward stronger, growth-focused choices.

Expose You to Fresh Ideas and New Perspectives

With experience across various situations and industries, a business coach introduces innovative approaches, strategies, and viewpoints that expand your possibilities and unlock robust solutions.

Provide a Safe Space for Creative Brainstorming

Innovation thrives in freedom. A great coach creates a judgment-free environment where you can think out loud, explore bold ideas, and test possibilities, enabling you to develop solutions with unwavering confidence.

Encourage You to Experiment and Embrace Smart Risks

Growth demands action. A coach inspires you to step outside your comfort zone, explore new strategies, and take calculated risks - essential ingredients for breakthrough thinking and innovation.
